

Brad Vietje grew up in Fairlee, and has lived in Newbury since 2005. A former neuroscience researcher, he's also an avid amateur astronomer, and teaches astronomy and astrophysics at Northern Skies Observatory, in Peacham. He's also a part-time woodturner and woodturning instructor. Slow and frustrating DSL has limited Brad's work-at-home options, so he fully understands how much we need to bring broadband to everyone in town.
